School Bonds Carry by Large Majority

Carmel has aligned itself with the progressive communities of California. Last Friday, Carmel voters to the number of 254 made their way to the school house on San Carlos avenue to cast their ballots for or against the proposed $50,000 bond issue for a new school building and appurtenances.

When the votes were all counted and tabulated at 9 p. m., the result of the twelve hours' balloting was announced as follows:

In favor of bonds	228
Against bonds	12
Defective ballots (in favor)	14

TOTAL 254

At the same time the voters unanimously returned Mrs. Florence Spoehr to her position of trustee of Sunset School, an endorsement of her untiring labors for the past two years.

In the contest for trustee of Monterey Union High School, Mayor William T. Kibbler came out ahead in the total vote of the district, but Thomas L. Edler received the largest vote in Carmel, outdistancing Kibbler by more than four to one.

How Vote Was Cast

Kibbler	Edler	Griffin
Carmel 47	211	22
Monterey 391	38	52
Del Monte 82	10	3

To Hunt Snakes in Old Mexico

Official announcement has been made of an expedition of the California Academy of Sciences which will visit the unfrequented islands off the coast of Mexico. The expedition is in charge of Dr. G. Dallas Hanna and Professor J. R. Slevin and there will be several other scientists to look after the various branches.

Among them will be Eric Knight Jordan, well known in Carmel, who will study the fishes, and Prof. Slevin, a former Carmelite, will collect reptiles, and, judging from his success in this line on previous expeditions, we can depend on his bringing back the goods.

The Navy Department is providing the U. S. S. Ortolan for the expedition which plans to leave San Francisco about April fifteenth and return about the end of June.

BOYS ENJOY APRIL FOOL PARTY

On Wednesday, the Carmel Boys' Club held the election of officers, to serve three months, with the following results: President, Glenn Liedig; vice-President, Robert Reiggs; Secretary, Dale Leidig.

The election was followed by an April Fool party, each boy bringing a package, and hilarity reigned as they were opened one by one. The prize was won by Dale Leidig, whose bundle contained little cakes made with castor oil. It is needless to say they created a sensation. Another bundle, most elaborately wrapped, held a box in which, wrapped in cotton, were three lively caterpillars.

The opening of the savings bank was postponed until next week.

The club was very sorry to lose Maro Hammond, who has gone to Santa Fe. Forrest Miller, from the waiting list, has taken his place.

TILTON PROPERTY IN LITIGATION

Howard Q. and Sarah Daley Tilton, as executors of the will of Etta M. Tilton, have started suit against Edith H. Long. Reformation of a deed by which Etta M. Tilton conveyed certain Carmel property to the defendant is the object of the suit.

John B. Jordan and Ray C. DeYoe were over at Hollister last Monday to attend the banquet incident to the organization of a new Rotary Club.

Historic Bells to Ring Again

AS IN the olden days, when the Mission at Carmel sheltered within its adobe walls thousands of California Indians, whose material and spiritual welfare was presided over by Padre Junipero Serra, we are again to hear the golden tones of the original bells.

The two long-lost bells have been found. They will be hung in the arches in the belfry where they hung long years ago. Some time this coming summer they will be reblessed.

The larger bell was cast in 1799 and the other in 1808. They were brought from Spain with other bells. They were stolen from the Carmel Mission in 1830, during the Mexican regime. The large one was sent to Soledad and the other to San Antonio.

The bells were taken from these missions when they went to ruin, and in the years 1861 and 1862 they were taken to St. Patrick's Church in Watsonville and stored.

There the bells lay for sixty-three years, no one knowing whence they had come, nor what was their history. Monsignor R. M. Mestres learned of the bells and searching the records of the Missions found mention of their having been stolen from Carmel Mission and of their hiding place in Watsonville.

In days gone by, when the bells were rung to call the Indians to work and worship, and tolled to announce a death in the church, the larger bell could be plainly heard in Monterey, according to testimony obtained by Father Mestres from old Indian residents. Considering the distance of approximately five miles over the heavily wooded hills, some idea is gained of the powerful tones of the larger bell.

Motion Pictures at The Golden Bough

After more than a year of negotiations with the film distributing exchanges, the Theatre of the Golden Bough has finally succeeded in prevailing on the distributors to accord a trial to the selective policy of booking pictures, without which, the theatre's founder and director has consistently declined to exhibit photoplays in the beautiful auditorium.

The opening photoplay dates for the Golden Bough will be April 17 and 18, the initial picture being a first-run on the latest European importation, "The Last Laugh," which was last month's sensation at the great Rivoli Theatre in New York.

Aside from the merits of the picture as a photoplay of first rank, it is unusually interesting, in that it is entirely without headings, subtitles or captions. The burden of the portrayal is thrown altogether on the actors. It is said that the New York press is filled with acclamations over the result, and that the picture is hailed as a great step forward in moviedom.

Mr. Kuster has sent us the following statement from San Francisco:

"Seats for the photoplays shown at the Golden Bough will not be reserved. The pictures will begin at seven-thirty, and will be shown Friday and Saturday nights throughout the season, and at other times if the demand warrants. A fifty cent price will be maintained for all seats in the house. Children under twelve, seated with their parents, or either of them, will be admitted free of charge, excepting on the two opening dates. Children under twelve not accompanied by either parent will be excluded. From twelve up to eighteen years of age a half-price schedule will prevail.

"In the present organization of motion picture distribution, it is next to impossible to secure for exhibition a few selected pictures from each of the many great producing companies. They must necessarily require that a theatre manager contract for from thirty to sixty pictures annually from their respective distributing agencies. In order, therefore, for such manager to supply his clientele a hundred carefully selected pictures a year, he would have to take and pay for at least a thousand productions—good, bad and indifferent. This would, of course be quite impossible.

On examination of the list of photo-

Italian Army Officer Wins Dorcas Powers

The Pine Cone is in receipt of advices from Paris announcing the marriage of Miss Dorcas Powers, daughter of the late Frank H. Powers, Marian and Gallatin Powers and Mrs. and Mrs. Powers and sister of Miss Madeline Ullman.

The husband of this former Carmel school girl is an Italian, Captain Roberto Penazzi-Ricci, of the personal guard of King Victor Emmanuel.

The Powers family have been making their home in Naples for several years, and the girls have been devoting much time to musical study.

The groom, whose ancestral home is in Ravenna, is with his regiment in Asmara, Africa, where the couple will make their home.

tures, are distinctly new and in some cases will be the first runs in America. I want to make it clear, however, that I have personally selected the list after advising with many of the Golden Bough patrons, and have not hesitated to include pictures as old as 'Intolerance' and Chaplin's famous 'The Kid.'

With regard to the opening picture, the National Board of Review says: "The Last Laugh" is one of the most important pictures yet to be observed upon the screen."

A special article on this extraordinary photoplay will be contributed for the next issue of the Pine Cone. plays shown on the Peninsula during the last four years, I have found that while many good pictures have been exhibited, there are scores of the very finest productions that have not visited us. This is particularly true of the imported films and the class of pictures that do not make an immediate appeal to a Market Street mixed audience, such, for example, as Lubitsch's splendid "Marriage Circle," and Douglas Fairbanks' finest picture "The Mark of Zorro." In addition, I have had dozens of requests in Carmel for repetitions of pictures already shown on the Peninsula, such as "Disraeli," "Broken Blossoms," "Tolable David" and the like. Acting, therefore, on the principal that merit, rather than mere newness should guide the exhibitor in his bookings, I have contracted for a list of photoplays for spring and summer showing at the Golden Bough that will, I believe, meet with approval. Many of these, particularly the German, Japanese and other imported pic-

Local Telephone Status Soon to Be Determined

The Railroad Commission will probably grant a public hearing on the application of the telephone company to install a "central" in Carmel, with a five-cent toll for calls outside the "Carmel area." The officers and members of both the Monterey and Pacific Grove chambers of commerce wish it understood that they do not object to Carmel having better service, but they do object to the toll provision if the improved service can be financed in any other way.

In his "record of individual opinion," published in the Pacific Grove Review, J. J. Shinabarger handles the Carmel telephone situation this way:

"This argument and fuss about a telephone exchange in Carmel would be settled in just two seconds if I had the settling of it. Put an independent exchange in that town by all means, and let those who dance pay the fiddler." The tricky merchants of Monterey are trying to get the service and make ALL telephone users on the Peninsula pay a pro rata, whether they have need to call Carmel once a year or once a day, or whether they ever have occasion to use that office. If a merchant calls up Carmel and sells a bill of goods, he should be willing to pay the full toll; if I made a date with a flapper in the same highbrow town over the phone, I should be willing (and doubtless would) pay the full toll, and not ask a couple hundred other phone users to pay a portion of it. So I say, give Carmel an exchange and let those who use the line pay the bill. It is the only just way to settle the matter.

Many Will Attend Pinnacles Celebration

In excess of one thousand people from Carmel, Pacific Grove, Monterey, Salinas, Watsonville and other places will be in attendance at the May first celebration at the Pinnacles, San Benito County. The San Benito County Board of Supervisors, in a conference with the Monterey Board, issued a special invitation to this county to be the guests of San Benito County at the Pinnacles National Park, thirty miles south of Hollister.

Fifteen hundred head of beef will be used for an enormous barbecue when thousands of people from all parts of the state are expected to gather at the park.

The Pinnacles is one of nature's beauty spots of which little is known. A movement was recently started to bring the national reservation to the front as a mecca for outdoor enthusiasts and motorists. There are fine camping facilities, fresh water and good hunting and fishing. An outstanding feature of the reservation is the lofty colored peaks, domes and spires and the marvelous labyrinths of caves, through which visitors are shown by government rangers.

Harvey M. Toy, chairman of the California Highway Commission, is president of the Pinnacles National Park Association and will head a large delegation of San Francisco and Oakland boosters to the spot. Hundreds of people are expected from all parts of the state, and Governor F. W. Richardson has promised to be present.

PROMINENT WOMAN WRITER VISITING HERE

Miss Gertrude Lynch, a member of the Authors' Guild and Pen and Brush Club of New York City is a guest of Miss Mary Wilkeson at Pine Inn.

Miss Lynch was for many years a member of the staff of the New York Sun, was a war correspondent and was decorated with the order of the British Empire. This is her first visit to California, and she admits herself overpowered with its abundant energies and its magnificent promises. She says, "In a brief and casual visit one can form only brief and casual opinions, but what I love more than anything else is the tribute to tradition I see everywhere."

JUST KIDDING

Being the Semi-Serious Musings of Carmel's Own Sam Pepys

THE SKY is overcast today. Rain is dripping from the eaves, oozing through the shakes of the latest addition to what someone has called "Wee Gables," and pattering down into the wash-bowl. It'll be good for the bride's hair. Out of evil goodness sometimes befalls. So why complain? But it's tough to turn out fiction when the sun fails to show. It's tough to turn out anything at all worth reading when all the land is gray and dour and the sea is a sullen expanse of vapor-veiled unrest. So we'll fill the space by making a few apologies.

WE APOLOGIZE to the woman who out of the goodness of her heart read our column and wrote us asking us to paint her two cottages. She thought we were hard-pressed. She feared perchance our grocer had denied us an egg or so, a dollop of bread, an ounce or two of butter. Nay, Madame. In a day or two we'll answer your letter and devise a scheme for the enameling of the interiors of your cottages, for the embellishment of their exteriors. Even the shingled roofs, like Solomon and his glory, shall stand forth and be pointed out as the handiwork of Mr. and Mr. S. A. R. For the bride loves to paint, and takes comfort therein. Very shortly, Madame, we shall advise you of the preliminaries looking to the summer coat of your buildings.

WE APOLOGIZE to the other gentleman who wrote us and offered the loan of money on our own terms. We make no claim to the poetic gifts of which he accused us. We cannot in justice to ourselves accept his money, although we crave the things which money will buy. Or, at least, a few of them. The possession of much coin is a burden unfair. A responsibility which we duck forthwith. Thank you again, kind sir; and may health and prosperity accompany your wanderings in search of contentment and the other essentials looking to the enjoyment of life.

WE APOLOGIZE to the Colonel of Cavalry we encountered at the oil and gas station the other day. We noted only on the sleeve of his overcoat the two stripes denoting a year of service overseas. "Corporal, Old Top," we began, mistaking the twin bits of braid for chevrons, and then we left off as our glance traveled above the sleeve and saw the face of what must be at least a major, a colonel, an officer of rank. We apologize, Colonel Breese, for our subsequent remarks about the drawbacks of running a regiment deficient in history, a barracks deficient in plumbing, the thankless task of officering a soldiery of horse who persist in turning their heels in on and off parade, thereby pricking the bellies of their mounts and adding to the discomforts of girth and saddle. Colonel, we salute you! May the blandishments and luxuries of the Moana appeal to you and help you forget the fragrance of the canneries. And when you come back and get settled down at Leavenworth, may the delights of Kansas City atone for the deprivations of life in the Presidio of today.

AND WE APOLOGIZE to the editor and linotype man for this delivery of copy at such a late, if not ungodly, hour.

HEARD ON THE MAIN DRAG

Court, the eminent head barber, is still in search of a manicure person slim enough to wedge in between the electric water-heater and the chair presided over by the Kansan naturalist and tornado-ducker in the rear of Ye First Shave Shoppe.

Rutherford Walker, who's a bear on poetry and wielder of a wicked brush, is contemplating an extension of his shoe-glossing plant. He has in mind a folding front which will protect his wares at night. And by day said front is expected to shield from public and profane view calves of certain patrons. We think it's a bad bet, Walker. In these days it looks like the girls crave to show 'em.

On a recent Town Meetin' night there was a rumbling below the city hall. The trustees talked louder 'n louder. Everybody wanted to know what the rumblin' was. Some thought it was indignant citizens protestin' about their trees. Others thought it was booze trucks headin' into the Fifty-Cent Drive. So the head of the local defective bureau was sent out. Very soon peace reigned, four misguided youths were admonished, and the post-office truck chained to a corner.

The reporter has been asked to hammer a laugh out of the name of the firm of bakers now established on Ocean avenue. It has been suggested that the name Wetzel and Flour should by rights read "Pretzel and Flour." Pretty hard hammerin'!

A prominent citizen has asked the reporter to call attention to the fact that the doorway of the Carmel postoffice is usually jammed with dogs growling and smelling, flappers gossiping and powdering, those who are not flappers powdering and gossiping, realty persons exchanging views, authors with huge packages of rejected manuscripts, successful authors with other packages—all of which is detrimental to good service and easy access to the stamp window. Personally, the reporter has no complaint, for he's a pushing sort of chap. But he passes the belch along. How about it, Stella V.?

One-Act Plays Are Well Received

By I. enjoyed It

Carmel was again treated to a triple bill of entertainment at the Arts and Crafts Theater last Friday and Saturday evenings. The brief review of the offering, which follows, is based upon Saturday night's performance, which, the critic is convinced, was a vastly better presentation than on the preceding night.

The comedy "Sham" was cleverly acted by all the people, with George Ball calmly and unassuming taking the center of the stage throughout. He was every bit the polite and courteous thief he was supposed to be.

The operetta, "Pepe et Tita," with Roberta Leitch's lovely soprano voice and Blanche Tolmie's splendid direction took the audience by storm, with their delightful singing and perfect French enunciation. The story was capably told by Susan Porter, which enlightened the audience a great deal as to what was going on.

But the "Sire de Maletroit's Door" was the crowning triumph of the evening. The moment the curtain went up, the perfect setting, perfect costuming, immediately brought audible admiration from the spectators. George Ball had changed as if by enchantment, from the dapper young thief to the old, proud head of the House of Maletroit. Gladys Vander Roest was the very personification of beauty in her lovely wedding gown, and Winsor Josselyn also excited admiration.

The entire cast lived their parts. The change in all of them from light comedy to serious drama was remarkable.

Concerning the operetta, a word of commendation should be said for the splendid musical accompaniment rendered by Irene Campbell Cator and Mrs. Olivia Warfield.

ALL SAINTS EASTER SERVICES

Careful preparations are being made for the Festival Service to be rendered in All Saints Church on Easter morning.

Under the skillful direction of Alfred Miller, the music will be sung by a quartette composed of Mrs. Roberta Leitch, soprano, Mrs. Alfred Miller, alto, Alfred Miller, tenor, Rev. George M. Dorwart, basso, with organ accompaniment by Mrs. J. B. Dennis and violin by Mrs. A. B. Chinn.

ITEMS OF INTEREST

Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Peckham left Wednesday on a six months' trip to Thompson, Iowa, where they will visit with relatives and friends.

Business requirements make it necessary for Mr. and Mrs. Ray Ramsey to move over to Monterey. The Ramsey's have a large circle of friends over the hill.

George E. Merrill and family have taken a cottage here until July. They have been at the Highlands. The Merrill daughter is a pupil of Armin Hansen.

For the fourth time since A. B. Smith retired from the Pacific Grove Review, a change has taken place in the management. W. T. Thyes has turned the paper over to J. P. McSorley and F. W. Schell, both formerly connected with the San Francisco Journal.

Miss Lisette East of Stanford University, and a party of friends, consisting of Miss Harriet McCausland and Miss Elinor Cogswell of Palo Alto, and Miss Katherine Beebe of Oakland spent last week-end at Hoffman's Camp down the coast.

A fire which threatened to make its way into the Theatre of the Golden Bough broke out Tuesday morning in the green cottage next to E. G. Kuster's playhouse. The fire department responded to the alarm, and four minutes after the screech of the siren the flames were extinguished. The damage, about $250.00, is covered by insurance.

H. E. Maule, of the editorial department of Doubleday Page & Co., Publishers, will be in Carmel this week-end, for a visit with Anne Shannon Monroe, whose new book, "Behind the Ranges," his firm is publishing on the 24th of this month. Mr. Maule is making a swing around from New York, via New Orleans, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Portland and Seattle.

In the Land of Youth

To drop the sober realities of everyday life and pick up a book by James Stephens is like coming out of a forest into the dancing light of a spring landscape.

Here is magic, laughter and delight! We wonder why we have taken the forest so seriously when the charming fairyland is but a step or two away.

It is All-Hallows Eve. Maeve and Aillil of Connacht and all their guests are gathered together for the feast of Samhain. There is an atmosphere of expectancy. One feels the eyes of the ghosts which must be hovering in the darkness just outside the circle of fire-light. Aillil the King, dares anyone to go to the hill of execution and tie a rope round the foot of a dead man.

Nera takes the dare and sets out. He crosses into the land of Faery and meets with some thrilling adventures. Tir na n-Og, the Land of Youth, is a place where one gets all that one wishes for. But Nera finds that it is not so easy to wish. There must be a complete and tremendous desire before a wish is fulfilled.

"A thing can be conceived and exercised in the mind, but when it has been so exercised in the mind that it becomes real there, it then becomes real in every part of nature and in all the worlds where life is living."

In the house of his sweet-cheeked, honey-haired companion, Nera learns the laws of Faery, and sups wholesomely on new milk, wheaten bread and honey. He finds peace and love, and after returning to Earth for his prize from Aillil, he goes back and we hear of him no more.

The book is full of stories flowing smoothly out of one another and Maeve, the queen, is the chief storyteller. She is a delightful character, full of sunny humour and always with a roguish eye open for a flirtation.

The story of Etain and Midir is told in true fairy fashion and Etain is especially lovely as a young girl. A purple coat with long silver fringes was lying by her on the grass. Her dress was of green silk, and falling along it behind, was a long hood embroidered in gold. On each breast, just deep enough to hold them, there was a little cup of gold; and on each of her shoulders was a narrow silver clasp.

All through the fun and magic of the tale there runs a fabric of truth and vision. It is delightfully hidden, but here and there we see the web and wool—just enough to show that James Stephens, although a supreme storyteller, is also a philosopher of depth and wisdom.

CARMELITA HAT SHOP CHANGES HANDS

The Millinery shop recently established by Mrs. Grace Selby on Dolores street, opposite the Carmel Postoffice, has been purchased by Mrs. Lois Dibrell, who has severed her connection with Goldstine's local store. On Thursday Mrs. Dibrell, Mrs. Selby and Mrs. Evelyn Dean went to San Francisco to purchase a stock of Easter creations.

Anticipating a continuance of the building activity in Carmel, A. Kluegel has established a plumbing shop here, and will be ready for business next Monday. He will do contract and repair work.—Adv.

Salvation Army Concerts Tomorrow

Arrangements are complete for a series of concerts to be given by the Salvation Army Territorial Staff Band, today and tomorrow.

This official band of the Army in the western states, is composed of thirty instrumentalists, and is under the supervision of Colonel Arthur E. Smeeton, for years one of the leading Army workers in prison welfare work in California and Washington.

The band is directed by Ensign Ernest Higgins, son of High Commissioner Higgins, second in command of the Salvation Army forces in the world. Although young, Higgins has won much credit for his splendid work as a musical director, and is classed as one of the most talented of the younger impresarios.

The band is considered one of the most unique musical institutions in the United States. Not only does the band play music composed by Salvation Army composers, but the uniforms and the musical instruments that it uses are wholly made by Salvation Army factories. The bandsmen are thorough Salvationists and do not receive one penny of remuneration for the services which they so freely donate.

Everyone on the Monterey Peninsula is cordially invited to attend this splendid series of special concerts to be held as follows:

Open Air Concert, Franklin and Alvarado streets, Monterey.

At seven-thirty this evening, Indoor Band Services, Dr. Sharp's Church, Franklin and Pacific streets, Monterey.

Tomorrow: 9 a. m., Open air concert, Forest and Lighthouse, Pacific Grove; 10 a. m., Open air concert, Alvarado and Franklin, Monterey; 11 a. m., Indoor band service, Dr. Sharp's Church, Pacific and Franklin streets, Monterey; 1:30 p. m., Open air concert, Del Monte Hotel.

CANNOT TAKE TRUCK FROM FIRE DISTRICT

On two occasions recently request that Carmel's fire fighting equipment be sent out of the city to fight fire in adjacent territory has been refused. The refusal was based on legal as well as protective grounds.

The following from the White Lake Times, N. Y., is appropos:

A Deposit attorney says that in an incorporated village "a fire truck cannot be legally taken outside the corporation limits either for fire or demonstration purposes," as the apparatus is purchased with money solely for the protection of property in said village. If perchance the truck was taken elsewhere and during its absence a resident of the village sustained a fire loss by reason thereof, said resident would have cause for damage against the authorities of the village, whether it be by their permission or not that the apparatus left town.

SCHOOL BONDS APPROVED

Property owners frequently turn down sewer bonds, water bonds, street bonds, etc., but seldom do they turn down school bonds.

Show the people that educational facilities are not up to the highest standard and they will vote money—their own money—to attain the highest standard.

In no uncertain way did the Carmel voters last Friday show their approval of the school trustees' proposal to acquire a new building.

The trustees, the teachers, the parents, and the pupils are to be congratulated.

THE SPHERE OF GOVERNMENT

Hon. Martin W. Littleton, speaking before the Non-Partisan Saturday Discussion Committee in New York, recently said:

"There is a public side and a private side to a railroad or other public utility. Wherever it touches the public, the passenger, the farmer, the manufacturer, the shipper it must be made by the government to do justice between these, and that is the supreme sphere of the government upon the public side.

"But, when justice has been done, if after that there is a region of gain for the individual who has made the venture and taken the risk, that gain does not belong to the government, but belongs to the man, and without it there is a state of paralysis in all of the individual genius which goes into the railroad and public utility business of a country."

Senator Hiram W. Johnson, his wife and Hiram W. Jr., are somewhere at sea on a 4,000-mile journey from Key West to San Francisco. They are traveling in the 90-foot motor yacht Kemali. Now, here is where Carmel's interest comes in. When the yacht returns to Key West, Captain Louis Ward, son-in-law of J. W. Hand, will be its skipper. Recently Captain Ward made a trek to Miami, Florida, to inspect the vessel.

When a Carmel storekeeper recently spoke peevishly to a prospective customer, the customer remarked: "That woman certainly put 'curt' in courtesy."

Monterey and Pacific Grove would do well to let Carmel settle its telephone problem itself—if the Railroad Commission does not settle it for us.

When will Carmel have its own high school? Some enthusiasts say in less than three years.

Last Wednesday was All Fools' Day. Was there an increase or decrease in the number in Carmel that day? Damfino.

Triple-Tie Playoff Set for Tomorrow

Team Standing
SEALS	6	4
SHARKS	6	4
SARDINES	6	4
WHALES	5	5
GOLDFISH	4	6
SANDABS	3	7

Two games tomorrow will decide the winner of the Abalone League's 1925 Hooper cup series. When the season's ten scheduled games were completed last Sunday the clubs had twisted themselves into a triple tie, with Tal Josselyn's "Seals," Winsor's "Sharks," and Col. Dutton's "Sardines" deadlocked for the lead.

The three teams are to report tomorrow at 1:30 sharp. Lots will be cast and one club will draw a bye. The other two will play and the team holding the bye will play the winner.

The big kick of last Sunday's affair was the Seal-Sardine game. The last time the clubs met, the Seals won an engagement shortened by rain. Yesterday hell-and-high-water couldn't have interrupted proceedings. The Seals had to be beaten to hold them from winning the cup then and there. Tons and tons of noise were unloaded on the field. Ammerman, the Sardine pitcher, was out of it for the day and Charlie Berkey took his place, combining pitching with the big-brother act. Charlie was right up to specifications. The Seals scored eight runs in the first three innings, getting off to a lead of eight to two. But the rescue pitcher shut out the opposition for the last four frames.

Shoulder to shoulder with their pitcher were Gordy Campbell, George Aucourt, and Dick Boke, Boke's three-bagger developing into the turning point of the game. Helen Van Riper played flawlessly at first, handling some hard chances. Joe Hooper, the rival first baseman, was the star of his organization. Besides putting up a strong game in the field, he hit four out of four for the afternoon.

The Sharks faced the Whales in the final game of the afternoon. To make it a triple tie, the Sharks had to be licked. A victory would have given them the cup. The Whales had handed the Seals a beating the week before, so with impartiality and appropriateness they walloped the aspiring Sharks. Eddie Burns again played short-stop, turning in some sparkling plays. Gottfried led the Shark's Four Horsemen in a heavy batting attack, but fast and clever fielding by the Whales kept them away from the plate. Don Hale, back in the game after laying off with a twisted knee, had on his hitting clothes, and Arch Kay brought in three of the runs that won for his side.

The first game of the afternoon saw the Goldfish and Sandabs in a battle for last place. While three teams were fighting for the lead, only two had a look-in for the exclusive last place. It shows what has been done in the way of bigger and better baseball. The Goldfish and Sandabs tore through the ferocious, raw-meat struggle to a decision in which the Goldfish got the game and the Sandabs got last place. Ray Woodward's catch was a feature.

"Here's Your Dividend Check Always on Time"

EVER SINCE ORGANIZATION THE PREFERRED SHAREHOLDERS OF THIS COMPANY HAVE RECEIVED THEIR QUARTERLY DIVIDENDS ON THE DUE DATE.

This record tells its own story to our big family of partners who share in the wages earned on the capital invested in modern properties performing useful public service.

The enduring, reliable character of this investment—its dependable return to the investor—its ready marketability if he has to sell his holdings—make it a safe one to offer to those people who cannot afford to lose.

The character of the investment itself is the best reason why we can say that we wish to encourage every one of our service customers to become a shareholder.

Here is an investment that prospective investors are requested to take time in deciding about—to compare with other investment opportunities—and to join us only after being fully satisfied as to the wisdom of so doing.

Our primary idea is to obtain your personal, friendly interest as a shareholder; your help and advice toward making this organization a better and more efficient public servant in every possible way.

As long as we make extensions and additions to serve a growing business we will need capital for investment in permanent properties. We can put your money to work for you on a conservative basis.

We could not offer this opportunity unless we encouraged the investment of small amounts by many rather than large amounts by a few people.

Local Artist's Work Attracts Attention

Mrs. Roberta Balfour Thudichum and daughter Carol drove to San Francisco last week to attend the World Peace Conference at the Palace Hotel, and the art gathering.

At Berkeley, Mrs. Jessie Freemont Herring, director of the Berkeley League of Fine Arts gallery, reported a number of sales, among them the mural "Sun Worshipers," which was shown in the Annual Exhibition in November and which won such favorable comment from the press and art connoisseurs.

In catalogues Mrs. Thudichum's work is listed under her own name—Balfour—by which she was known as a writer for many years. Among the paintings now out is one in the traveling exhibit of the Dayton Art Institute, where Brainerd Thresher, the director, has asked for one of the brilliant murals attracting so much attention. The editor of the Revue du Vrai et Beau of Paris has written a request for reproductions of her work and a personal sketch for publication, calling attention to the fact that he admired her contributions to both the Berkeley and Oakland annual exhibitions of the winter. Mrs. Balfour will be glad to show her work on Friday afternoons at her studio home on the northwest corner of Seventh and Lincoln streets.

"The Child's Garden" for February publishes two articles from the "Wee Acorn"—one a story by Valkyrie Campbell, the other a poem by David Campbell.

Miss M. Coldeve, the designer for the Harlan Millinery Shops in Carmel and Monterey, has returned from a buying trip in San Francisco, where she went to purchase the latest models for spring and Easter.

ABOUT TREES

"A tree is worth $5000 to any community," asserts Major Richard F. Burges of the Texas forestry commission.

"I used to love New York, but now—well, back there if you want to see a tree you must have a telescope." —Maria Jeritza.

In Berkeley, one thousand new trees will be set out by the municipal government during the coming year. Trees are provided for in the Berkeley city manager's budget.

"Woodman, spare that tree!" They did indeed spare many nearby trees on the Hogle and Tower properties on the Eighty-acre tract last week, when they cut down a number of badly infected pines.

Forestry Research in this state is provided for in a bill signed by Mr. Coolidge. We hereby appoint all residents of Carmel—members of a forestry research committee to see to it that proper ornamental trees are planted properly, and kept living properly.

General Naglee, whose monument stands in St. James park, in San Jose, is gratefully remembered for having planted shade trees along Alum Rock avenue. We'd feel like putting up a monument to any citizen who plants a good tree, or persuades a neighbor from cutting a good one down.

The Ralph C. Whiteheads left on Wednesday for Santa Barbara, where they will visit for several days prior to returning to their eastern home. They have been here since December.

EXTRACT OF GAME LAWS

The California game laws for 1924-1925 list the following protected birds and animals:

No open season: Doe, spike, buck, fawn, elk, antelope, sheep, tree squirrel (1925); pheasant, introduced quail or partridge, turkey, rail, plovers, yellowlegs, swans, wood duck, eider ducks, auklets, bitterns, little brown and sandhill cranes, fulmars, grebes, guillemots, petrels, band-tailed pigeons, puffins, shearwaters, terns, and all shorebirds (except Wilson snipe or jacksnipe).

DEATH ENDS VIGIL

At Lancaster, Ohio, recently, death ended the long vigil of Nero, a dog who died on his master's grave in a lonely cemetery. His owner, Charles Farmer, was shot to death last July in a gun fight with prohibition fiends. Nero followed the funeral procession to the cemetery, where he has kept watch daily, only leaving the grave at short intervals to obtain food. All efforts to coax the dog away failed.

Once humane officers were about to shoot the dog when the cemetery trustees stopped them. A boulder marks the grave of Nero.

PRESERVATION OF WILD LIFE

Cook County, which includes Chicago, Illinois, has 29,000 acres of "Forest Preserves," which give the three and a half millions of people in the city of Chicago opportunities for enjoying nature and to aid in the preservation of wild life and natural beauty.

This spring the chief forester and his assistants will plant 200,000 young trees in the area and a large number of elk, deer and birds will be placed in various parts of the forest. The school children of Cook county are building bird houses to be placed in the bird sanctuaries and wild cherry and mulberry trees, millet and grass are being grown to feed the birds.

The object of the animal pastures is to replace the unnatural and expensive public "zoo," with paddocks of fresh grazing animals in their natural habitat.

ALMOST every one has enjoyed the "Just Kidding" feature of the Pine Cone. It is the playful work of a writer of international reputation, who chooses at times to adopt pseudonyms familiar to most readers. Other writers and artists of standing have enthused over "Just Kidding", and Don Marquis, famous columnist and critic, has sent to the Pine Cone for all copies containing this feature. The author has been induced to put his impressions of Carmel into a book.

Therefore, April 1st will mark the issue of—

In Memoriam

By JEANNE BURTON

Trees leant down to give their quaint directions—would point you to the moon, whisper you up a mountain,
or bring you to the water's edge and leave you there.
These were not roads;

These were the ways and moods of one whose mother,
still a virgin, loved the sea,
And she would walk therein—half elf, half wanton—seeking, perhaps, to come a little closer to the heart of man.
Where will she go now these are gone—now we have taken from her all remembrance of herself?

The day the cut the Dancing Oaks down
I dreamed I saw her dancing on a street, splendidly paved, smooth as progress.
The sea had the sound of jazz;
her partner was a white-ringed tree;
"What are you doing here?" I cried.
"This is Pacific Grove."
"You bet your life it's not!" she answered,
"This is Carmel!"
